DAVID BROMSTAD

AMERICAN DESIGNER AND TELEVISION PERSONALITY

David Bromstad made a big splash on the design scene when he won the debut season of HGTV's Design Star, and he hasn't stopped since. His designs have been described as being on the cutting edge of commercial and residential trends with a keen and sophisticated eye on color and style. Now this experience is available through his Miami design firm, David Bromstad Designs.

LIFE AFTER DESIGN STAR: My life changed completely.

First, it led to other television shows, appearances on talk shows and personal paid appearances all over the country. I have had an incredible opportunity with endorsement deals and licenses, including the launching of a luggage collection with Kipling and designing Nestle's bottles for vanilla and hazelnut coffee creamer sold exclusively at Target.

APPROACH TO INTERIOR DESIGN: My approach is always changing. I approach interior design with an open mind. My design style changes with the times, and I am always looking for the next big trends while maintaining my personal design aesthetic to keep my design timeless.

MOST EXTREME/EXTRAVAGANT PROJECT: Most definitely, The House of Rock in Los Angeles. It took every ounce of effort and skill to complete this project with a very tight deadline. I created and sculpted the dining room using chains hanging from the ceiling to create columns and I installed crystal chandeliers to complement the design of the room. It was over the top, extremely dramatic and turned out FABULOUS!

MAISON&OBJET AMERICAS: MAISON&OBJET is an incredible resource and opportunity for our industry and for everyone around the world who is looking for something unique and to be inspired. The event is filled with unexpected design and luxurious moments. If my filming schedule allows, I will be attending with pleasure!

DAVID BROMSTAD HOME: My travels and life experiences inspired my furniture collection as they do with all of my interior design spaces. To finally see the finished product in the Bromstad Collection by grandinroad.com was truly my dream come true.
